Medieval Astrology Profile for Lyndon Johnson

File History: Initial 5-Oct-2011; Technical Edit, 9-Nov-2011; Fixed Star Correction, 22-Jan-2013; Resolved choice of victor between Jupiter/Leo and Mercury/Virgo in favor of Jupiter/Leo, 16-May-2014; Tables Revised 19-Jun-2016

Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of Lyndon Johnson made using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models have been developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan). This paper presents one of forty horoscopes chosen to populate an initial data set to investigate the victor.

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir Ibn Izra who was an active philosopher and astrologer in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms was taken up by Ptolemy who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul". Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Significators of the Soul" or "Manners". A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

Lyndon Baines Johnson (August 27, 1908 – January 22, 1973)

Born in rural Texas to a family accustomed to poverty, Johnson worked his way through college at Southwest Texas State Teachers' College where his eyes opened to debate and campus politics. After a few teaching stints, Johnson entered politics at the age of twenty-two as the Washington D. C. legislative secretary for Congressman Richard Kleberg. He never looked back.

One helpful connection was Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House of Representatives, made through LBJ's own father who served five terms in the Texas legislature. His reputation as an effective (and workaholic) legislative aid brought LBJ to the attention of President Franklin Roosevelt who appointed LBJ head of the Texas Youth Administration. FDR would become another important mentor and father figure to LBJ. Later, Herman Brown, a founder of the Houston-based construction firm Brown & Root, would prove a powerful financial backer to LBJ's political campaigns as LBJ's power to deliver patronage expanded with his tenure as a career politician.

Johnson's entry to the House of Representatives in 1937 occurred following the sudden death of Representative James B. Buchanan whose seat LBJ won in a special election in 1948. It would not mark the first time LBJ's political fortunes advanced in the wake of the death of a sitting politician. Describing the House as "chicken shit" compared to the Senate, LBJ was not long in running for a Senate seat. He ran an unsuccessful race to Texas Governor Pappy O'Daniel in 1941 was but was successful in a highly contested 1948 Senate election. LBJ's victory by a mere 87 votes under dubious circumstances earned him the satirical label "Landslide Lyndon."

Johnson's personal style of aggressive lobbying found success in the Senate where in just three years he was elected Senate Majority Whip (1951-53), Senate Minority Leader (1953-55), and Senate Majority Leader (1955-61). Johnson historians Robert Caro and Robert Dallek consider LBJ the most effective Senate Majority Leader in the history of the U.S. Senate. At the 1960 Democratic National Convention, Democratic Candidate John F. Kennedy selected LBJ as his Vice President running mate in an appeal to Southern Democrats. LBJ was not Kennedy's first choice and various stories exist concerning the selection process. Nevertheless, with Kennedy's election, LBJ moved to the Executive Branch of the U.S. Government where he would stay for the next eight years. Powerless as Vice President, LBJ nevertheless built on his role by establishing NASA in 1958 following the Soviet Union's launch of Sputnik 1 on October 4, 1957. In response to the 1961 Soviet launch of a manned spaceflight, JFK tasked LBJ with a response. The result was an enlarged NASA and Project Apollo whose goal was landing an American on the Moon.

Despite his popularity, Kennedy's domestic legislative efforts stalled. This changed after Kennedy's assassination and LBJ's assumption of the Presidency. Passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was an early legislative achievement made possible as a memorial to JFK. The Voting Rights Act of 1965 was passed during the heyday of Martin Luther King's nonviolent protests. Later Great Society programs were well intended but fell short of their goals, especially given the rising costs of the unpopular Vietnam War which eventually sank the Johnson administration following the Tet Offensive of January 1968. His March 31, 1968 announcement of a Vietnam bombing halt, start of peace talks with North Vietnam, and his intent to not seek the 1968 Democratic Presidential Nomination effectively ended his political career.

Model Summary

(for model details see www.regulus-astrology.com/research.html)

Physiognomy

Ascendant sign: Leo
Ascendant sign ruler: Sun/Virgo
Ascendant decan: Sagittarius
Ascendant decan ruler: Jupiter/Leo

Johnson's face is a match to the elongated rectangular of Sagittarius in Willner's facial shape model. This demonstrates the influence of the rising decan's sign on physiognomy. The earlier photo taken of LBJ in his naval uniform shows some Virgo influence with facial features which are drawn.

Longevity: 64y 4m 27d

Releaser and kadukhudhāh. Figure is nocturnal and Moon/Virgo/2nd qualifies as releaser. While the Moon is combust, she is waxing and about to leave combustion. The Moon also tests well as the empirical hilaj (see ARM, p. 628). Mercury receives the Moon by sign and exaltation and grants 76 major years. South Node conjunct the Lot of Life at 2CP32 may account for a reduced lifespan.

Victor of the Chart: Jupiter/Leo

Jupiter and Mercury each emerge from combustion on the proper side of the Sun (Jupiter oriental and Mercury occidental) and are the two strongest VOC candidates. Jupiter/Leo is leaving combustion, angular in the Ascendant, and the in-sect nocturnal triplicity ruler of fire. To choose Jupiter/Leo is to describe Johnson as a power hungry political figure with a domineering personality. None would dispute these facts; to wit, Johnson was one of only four people to serve in all four elected federal offices of the United States: Representative, Senator, Vice President, and President. But Johnson himself stated that the quest for power was not an end in itself. From his earliest days as a Texas politician, LBJ was interested in spending his acquired political power for the benefit of the less fortunate. Mercury/Virgo/2nd signifies the bureaucratic details of expenses tied to the King's purse by rulership of the 11th. With Venus/Cancer significator of Johnson's welfare programs (see ARM p. 627 for Venus/Cancer as significator of the Department of Housing and Development), see that Venus/Cancer receives Mercury by bound and sextile aspect. This reception of shows LBJ's 'expense bureaucracy' and 'King's money' is received by the less fortunate through subsidized housing. Unfortunately for recipients Venus/Cancer/12th shows they are effectively imprisoned. This is a delineation match to the most notorious public housing units which eventually became drug-ridden dens of thievery. Arguably it is Johnson's Venus/Cancer/12th placement which accounts for the failure of many of his welfare programs to win the War on Poverty. With Mercury receiving the Sun, LBJ became the most well-known US elected official who favored transfer payments to the less fortunate.

Though a case can be made for Mercury/Virgo as victor, the fact remains that Johnson was a career politician who launched his career during the major Jupiter Firdaria period. Subsequent Jupiter subperiods reveal other significant political milestones including his downfall during Vietnam which revealed the arrogance that Jupiter/Leo can display.

Manners: Mercury.
