Medieval Astrology Profile for William Jennings Bryan

File History: Initial 2-Oct-2015; Tables Revised 12-Jun-2016

Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of William Jennings Bryan, using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models were developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan).

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir ibn Ezra, a philosopher and astrologer active in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra, which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels (assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms) was taken up by Ptolemy, who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul." Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Significators of the Soul" or "Manners." A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

William Jennings Bryan (March 19, 1860 – July 26, 1925)

Within American politics, William Jennings Bryan is best remembered for his July 9, 1896 'Cross of Gold' speech made at the Democratic National Convention which secured his 1st Presidential Nomination and 46.7% of the popular vote against William Mckinley who won the election. In subsequent races, Bryan's share of the popular vote fell to 45.5% in 1900 and 43.0% in 1908. Bryan's three unsuccessful Presidential bids were matched only by Henry Clay's attempts.

The "Cross of Gold" speech marked the high water mark of a key cycle of American populism tied to post-Civil War deflation. Lower prices for agricultural and mining products disproportionately impacted these economic sectors which dominated Midwest and Western regions of the US. Demands for outright price inflation by increasing silver coinage, whose supply was more plentiful than gold, was the number one American political issue for nearly 30 years between the Civil War and the turn of the 20th century. Deflation ended only with the Klondike gold discovery on 16-Aug-1896 barely five weeks after the 'Cross of Gold' speech. Still operating without elastic currency supplied by a central bank, the US financial system relied on fresh gold discoveries in order for the money supply to expand. Once Klondike gold started to enter the banking system, prices recovered and the basis for WJB's silver campaign evaporated. On 14-Mar-1900 the US adopted a Gold Standard for its currency.

But Bryan was far from washed out as a national political figure. Bryan's anti-imperialist sentiments on the Spanish-American War offered a new 'pivot' for the attention of his political followers. With imperialists and large corporate interest generally comprised of the same individuals, WJB offered the anti-corporate or 'progressive' pivot to followers egged on by muckraker revelations of widespread corporate corruption. Historians of the Progressive Movement in the early 20th century cite Bryan's political followers as a key force which morphed into supporters of Woodrow Wilson's Presidential bid, elected on a progressive platform. Bryan himself engineered Wilson's Democratic Presidential nomination at the 1912 convention. Wilson returned the favor by naming Bryan his Secretary of State though Bryan famously resigned his position on 8-Jun-1915 as the rhetoric against Germany heated up after U-boats torpedoes the Lusitania.

Bryan next turned his attention to the Prohibition campaign which was a branch of the Progressive movement. His advocacy assisted passage of Prohibition legislation on 18-Dec-1917, a crucial victory for prohibitionists. On that date, WJB predicted Prohibition would be ratified by a sufficient number of states within three years which was a successful prediction.

Bryan's final act on the American stage was representative for the State of Tennessee in its case against John Scopes for teaching evolution. Scopes was represented by Clarence Darrow. More popularly known as the 'Scopes Monkey Trial,' the trial was viewed as a referendum on the Religious-Scientific debate: whether revealed knowledge in the Bible took priority over fact-based scientific evidence. At the time a majority of Americans sided with the religious point of view which was affirmed with the initial verdict on 21-Jul-1925 in favor of WJB and the State of Tennessee. Based on WJB's printed summation of the trial, the case also represented a backlash against science generally, whose recent advances with application in offensive military warfare (WWI slaughter) linked science with imperialism in WJB's mind. WJB sought to rescue the amorality of science with the ethics of Christian teachings found in the Bible, whether or not Bible stories met tests of scientific evidence.

William Jennings Bryan and the Cross of Gold Speech of 9-Jul-1896

With Jupiter/Cancer the significator for silver and Saturn/Leo-rx the significator anti-imperialiam and anti-gold, I was initially looking for dynamic activity with these planets as a timer of WJB's speech which remains one of the most famous and widely studied speeches in American politics.

But the final measurements were more interesting.

WJB has four placements which link his natal horoscope to mundane trends in the United States.

1. Moon 27AQ08 compares with the 27AQ51 Moon in the Regulus USA National Horoscope.
2. Jupiter 15CA19 is conjunct the Sun at 13CA22 in the Regulus USA National Horoscope.
3. Preventional degree of 17VI12 conjunct the 21-Oct-1861 JSC degree of 18VI21.
4. Lot of Fortune of 0TA42 conjunct the 18-Apr-1881 JSC degree of 1TA35.

#1 directly links WJB to the American populace at large (same Moon).
#2 links the pro-silver theme (Jupiter/Cancer) to the American Presidency (conj Sun/Cancer).
#3 links Bryan to farming interests (Jupiter/Virgo is the bound lord of the JSC) who suffered from deflation in the post-Civil War period and formed the backbone of US populist political movements.
#4 links Bryan to the rise of labor movements in the 1880s. My significator for labor movements is Venus/Taurus as the bound lord of the JSC (refer to the horoscope of Karl Marx).

PT	D	Jupiter/Virgo	P	Preventional Degree d. => South Node	12-Jul-1896
REG	D	Jupiter/Virgo	P	Preventional Degree d. => South Node	21-Oct-1896

WJB's Cross of Gold speech is widely considered the high water mark of late 19th century American populist politics. Why? Because discovery of gold in the Klondike on 16-Aug-1896 triggered an inflow of gold to the US banking sector and ended post-Civil War deflation. WJB lost the Presidential election on 3-Nov-1896.

Planets/Nodes placed in the Ascendant sign or decan:

Longevity: 65y 4m 6d

Releaser and kadukhudhāh.

Figure is diurnal and the Sun is preferred and allowable by 10th /11th WS/QS house placement. Lord Jupiter is in the sign of the Sun's exaltation and aspects by trine. Sun is the releaser and Jupiter the kadukhudhah. Jupiter grants 79 major years. Neither malefic aspects and is capable of deducting years. The only way of forcing a solution is to allow Venus to add years (+8) and Mercury to deduct years (-20) for a net projection of 67 which is still too long. How would this work? Assume Venus adds because she applies to Jupiter by sextile. Problem: Venus only receives Jupiter by nocturnal triplicity which is a minor dignity especially for a day chart. Assume mercury deducts years because he is an accidental malefic: Mercury is in the sign of Mars received by Mars on the 8th cusp. Problem: with Mercury my choice for WJB's victor, it is impossible for Mercury to deduct years as Mercury's role as the victor makes Mercury fundamentally a life giving force which allows WJB to fulfill his destiny as a public speaker. Final verdict: the longevity model fails for Bryan. Pointless to force a solution.

Victor of the Chart: Mercury/Aries

Both Ibn Ezra and Porphyry's methods identify Mercury and Jupiter as high scoring planets. I accept Mercury/Aries as the victor with Mercury's signification as an orator a clear delineation match to Bryan's life calling. His nickname was "the Great Commoner" which is a delineation match to Jupiter ('Great') and Moon ('Commoner') since Moon is assigned to the public in mundane astrology. Mercury is in square aspect and does receive Jupiter by bound. In addition - and I suggest this is the key analytical reason why Mercury and Jupiter are closely linked in Bryan's career – Jupiter went stationary direct 9 days before birth and Mercury will move stationary retrograde 5 days after birth. This means that on first glance it appears that Mercury is separating from the square of Jupiter; in reality Mercury does perfect its square aspect to Jupiter after it turns retrograde. The fact that both planets are making stations intensifies their effects. Jupiter's placement in Cancer, ruled by the Moon and assigned to silver, is also why Bryan is not only "the Great Commoner" but also the foremost advocate for silver backed currency of his day.
