Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of John D. Rockefeller Sr., using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models were developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan).

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir ibn Ezra, a philosopher and astrologer active in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra, which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels (assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms) was taken up by Ptolemy, who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul." Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Significators of the Soul" or "Manners." A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

John D. Rockefeller Sr. (July 8, 1839 – May 23, 1937)

John Davison Rockefeller Sr. was an American business magnate and philanthropist. He is widely considered the wealthiest American of all time, and the richest person in modern history.

Rockefeller was born into a large family in upstate New York that moved several times before eventually settling in Cleveland, Ohio. Rockefeller became an assistant bookkeeper at age 16 and went into several business partnerships beginning at age 20, concentrating his business on oil refining. Rockefeller founded the Standard Oil Company in 1870. He ran it until 1897, and remained its largest shareholder.

Rockefeller's wealth soared as kerosene and gasoline grew in importance, and he became the richest person in the country, controlling 90% of all oil in the United States at his peak. Oil was used throughout the country as a light source until the introduction of electricity, and as a fuel after the invention of the automobile. Furthermore, Rockefeller gained enormous influence over the railroad industry which transported his oil around the country. Standard Oil was the first great business trust in the United States. Rockefeller revolutionized the petroleum industry and, through corporate and technological innovations, was instrumental in both widely disseminating and drastically reducing the production cost of oil. His company and business practices came under criticism, particularly in the writings of author Ida Tarbell.

The Supreme Court ruled in 1911 that Standard Oil must be dismantled for violation of federal antitrust laws. It was broken up into 34 separate entities, which included companies that became ExxonMobil, Chevron Corporation, and others—some of which still have the highest level of revenue in the world. Individual pieces of the company were worth more than the whole, as shares of these doubled and tripled in value in their early years; consequently, Rockefeller became the country's first billionaire, with a fortune worth nearly 2% of the national economy. His peak net worth was estimated at US$418 billion (in 2019 dollars; inflation-adjusted) in 1913. His personal wealth, $900 million in 1913, more than 2% of US GDP of $39.1 billion that year was worth 21 billion dollars in 2016 adjusted for inflation (by 1937 the Rockefeller fortune was 1.4 billion or 1.5% of GDP of 92 billion).

Rockefeller spent much of the last 40 years of his life in retirement at his estate in Westchester County, New York, defining the structure of modern philanthropy, along with other key industrialists such as steel magnate Andrew Carnegie. His fortune was mainly used to create the modern systematic approach of targeted philanthropy through the creation of foundations that had a major effect on medicine, education, and scientific research. His foundations pioneered developments in medical research and were instrumental in the near-eradication of hookworm and yellow fever in the United States.

Rockefeller was also the founder of the University of Chicago and Rockefeller University and funded the establishment of Central Philippine University in the Philippines. He was a devout Northern Baptist and supported many church-based institutions. He adhered to total abstinence from alcohol and tobacco throughout his life. For advice, he relied closely on his wife Laura Spelman Rockefeller with whom he had five children. He was a faithful congregant of the Erie Street Baptist Mission Church, taught Sunday school, and served as a trustee, clerk, and occasional janitor. Religion was a guiding force throughout his life and he believed it to be the source of his success. Rockefeller was also considered a supporter of capitalism based on a perspective of social Darwinism, and he was quoted often as saying, "The growth of a large business is merely a survival of the fittest".

Stage I. Determine the Ascendant sign

Physiognomy and Configuration of the Chart

For certain horoscopes, physiognomy offers a clear acceptance or rejection of the Ascendant sign. Rockefeller is one such individual. His face is extremely plain in appearance, consistent with the influence of Venus/Virgo as a physiognomy significator. Venus/Virgo individuals are most likely to need and benefit from cosmetic makeovers because Venus/Virgo placed in the sign of detriment/fall means Venus-ruled beauty features are lacking. While women often take advantage of this possibility, men are less likely to engage in cosmetic procedures making their Venus/Virgo characteristics all the more obvious in the absence of modification.

By configuration of the chart, Aries rising with lord Mars/Libra in the 7th signifies one who fights with him/herself and/or places themselves in a position of legal advocacy. Not so for Rockefeller. Separate research ties Venus-ruled Taurus to oil which for Rockefeller's Ascendant sign means 'hoarding oil' is a primary motivation. Conclusion: Ascendant is Taurus, not Aries.

Stage III. Determine the exact Degree and Minute of the Ascendant

The AHA! Moment of the rectification came when examining the Ludlow massacre of 20-Apr-1914. When guards killed approximately 21 strikers and their families with live fire during a mine workers strike. For this event, trMars 24CA40 and csa Mars 24CA31 strongly suggested the IC at this degree which was borne out in the final rectification. Mars/Libra/6th ruling the 12th signifies Rockefeller's secret enemies (guardsmen and security guards) who are placed in the 6th house of employees and labor more generally. Riots and property destruction are frequently timed by directions of Mars to the IC, whether for a natal or mundane horoscope.

With this direction in place, two other notable events were also timed by planets directed to the IC: (1) father's rape by directing the Sun to the IC (with Sun-IC directions timing moments of spiritual crisis) and (2) boycott and termination of the South Improvement Company by directing the Moon to the IC (Moon/Gemini/2nd signifying rumors of illicit financial dealings coming to an end with the direction to the IC, 4th cusp, end of the matter). One of the independent refiners harmed by Rockefeller's actions was Ida Tarbell's father. It was this event which proved the catalyst for Ida Tarbell to study and write her expose on Standard Oil published November 1902 – August 1905.

Ascendant decan: Virgo

Ascendant decan ruler: Mercury/Cancer

Planets/Nodes placed in the Ascendant sign or decan: Sun and Mercury in sign of rising decan.

Longevity: 97y 10m 13d

Releaser and kadukhudhāh. Figure is nocturnal and Moon/Gemini/2nd qualifies as releaser. Bound lord Mars though in detriment is co-present with Jupiter and does aspect the Moon. Mars grants 66 major years, Jupiter adds 12 minor years by conjunction; net projection is 78. He lived nearly another 20 years which suggests that Mercury adds its minor years by sextile aspect and receiving Mars by bound. At age 78, JDR Sr. began to give away most of his wealth to his son John Jr. as he increased the pace of giving up his fortune.

Victor of the Chart: Saturn/Sagittarius/rx

Mercury and Saturn vie for the victor in Porphyry's Stage I criteria based on total scores of 5. Based on life affairs, Saturn/Sagittarius-rx functions like Saturn/Gemini in its precision found from JDR Sr.'s youth in his meticulous notebooks which tracked all his expenses to the penny. Placed in the 8th of investments, Saturn/Sagittarius-rx signifies the control that Standard Oil imposed on industry competitors through control of railroad rates (initially) and mergers (later). Jupiter's position in the 6th of illness and rulership of Saturn as well as the North Node in the 11th signifies philanthropy with a special focus on public health and medical research.

Manners: Mars-Mercury (sign-based); Saturn-Mars (bound-based)
