Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of William H. Crawford, using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models were developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan).

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir ibn Ezra, a philosopher and astrologer active in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra, which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels (assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms) was taken up by Ptolemy, who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul." Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Signicators of the Soul" or "Manners." A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

William H. Crawford

William H. Crawford (February 24, 1772 – September 15, 1834)

William Harris Crawford (February 24, 1772 – September 15, 1834) was an American politician and judge during the early 19th century. He served as United States Secretary of War and United States Secretary of the Treasury before running for president in the 1824 election.

Born in Virginia, Crawford moved to Georgia at a young age. After studying law, Crawford won election to the Georgia House of Representatives in 1803. He aligned with the Democratic-Republican Party and U.S. Senator James Jackson. In 1807, the Georgia legislature elected Crawford to the United States Senate. After the death of Vice President George Clinton, Crawford's position as president pro tempore of the Senate made him first in the presidential line of succession from April 1812 to March 1813. In 1813, President James Madison appointed Crawford as the U.S. minister to France, and Crawford held that post for the remainder of the War of 1812. After the war, Madison appointed him to the position of Secretary of War. In October 1816, Madison chose Crawford for the position of Secretary of the Treasury, and Crawford would remain in that office for the remainder of Madison's presidency and for the duration of James Monroe's presidency.

Crawford suffered a severe stroke in 1823, but nonetheless sought to succeed Monroe in the 1824 election. The Democratic-Republican Party splintered into factions as several others also sought the presidency. No candidate won a majority of the electoral vote, so the United States House of Representatives chose the president in a contingent election. Under the terms of the Constitution, the House selected from the three candidates who received the most electoral votes, leaving Andrew Jackson, John Quincy Adams, and Crawford in the running. The House selected Adams, who asked Crawford to remain at Treasury. Refusing Adams's offer, Crawford accepted appointment to the Georgia state superior court. He considered running in the 1832 presidential election, either for the presidency or the vice presidency, but ultimately chose not to run.

Stage I. Determine the Ascendant sign

Moon's Degree and Configuration

Rarely does a single event help identify the Moon's degree so closely. For mother's death on 11-Nov-1789, there are three different measurements:

dsa North Node 19SC39
tr North Node 19SC17
trMars 19LE17, ten signs from the Moon.

I have only seen a few cases of this, but whenever the Node contacts the Moon by both solar arc and transit at the same time it is strong evidence of the Moon's actual degree. Suppose the solar arc North Node times the mother's death, if so, then the Ascendant is 19 Sagittarius. Let's use this as a trial Ascendant sign and degree and see if other evidence corroborates Sagittarius rising.

Firdaria

Crawford is an example where I do not believe Firdaria offers clarity as a Stage I rectification tool. Overlap of the major Moon (diurnal) and major Mars (nocturnal) is one example – Moon/Scorpio ruled by Mars/Aquarius will give similar effects for both major Moon and Mars periods. Other examples include similarity of Mercury and Jupiter by sign. I will pass on using Firdaria here.

ZRS

The trial Ascendant of 19 Sagittarius yields the Lot of Fortune in Aries and the Lot of Spirit in Virgo. As ZRS tables demonstrate, all L2 Capricorn periods, which are 10th from the Lot of Fortune, yield Crawford's major career milestones including his final position as Georgia state superior court judge a year following the start of L1 Capricorn. This evidence is consistent with Sagittarius rising.

Stage II. Determine the Ascendant's range within 1-4 degrees

Physiognomy

With a trial Ascendant degree at 19SA on the cusp of the 2nd and 3rd decans of Sagittarius, the rising decan model should offer evidence to tip the scale for an Ascendant degree above or below the 19SA59 cutoff for the end of the 2nd decan.

2nd decan of Sagittarius is Aries ruled by Mars/Aquarius.

3rd decan of Sagittarius is Leo ruled by Sun/Pisces.

By sign of the rising decan alone, Leo is a better fit to the shape of his face which is full and not angular were Aries the rising decan. Male baldness is also more common with Leo. The effect of the signs will be modified by the rulers, with Mars/Aquarius adding the rectangular shape to the face and Sun/Pisces adding more flesh. In my opinion, sign placement of the ruler of the rising decan does not add much beyond the sign of the decan itself for Crawford. Keep in mind we are limited to 19th century portraits for Crawford which overlook certain features. For now, I favor Leo as rising decan.

I selected William H. Crawford to illustrate the Mars/Aquarius Ascendant Distribution for the Regulus USA National Horoscope which spans 26-Oct-1823 to 17-Mar-1827. This was a period of anti-intellectualism and rampant partisan politics which upset efforts for Aquarian-signified internal improvements.

As victor of the horoscope, Jupiter signifies Crawford; not Mars. Instead, the role of Mars in the Mercury/Mars/Jupiter stellia is to act as a 12th house spoiler. Crawford suffers multiple partisan attacks during this period including following his 14-Feb-1824 nomination for President by the Congressional caucus which would normally be a major positive career milestone for any politician. He also suffers two strokes during this period (late Sep-1823 listed above and end-May-1824) which limits his appeal as the establishment frontrunner.

Voting in the Presidential Election of 1824 was split four ways: John Quincy Adams (30.9%), Andrew Jackson (41.4%), William Crawford (11.2%), and Henry Clay (13.0%). The election was decided in the House for John Quincy Adams which set into motion an anti-intellectual movement which saw Andrew Jackson defeat Adams in 1828.

Between 1821 and 1825, there are 13 possible permutations of Mars-Ascendant and Mars-Lot of Fortune primary directions. The above listed direction for 30-Sep-1823 is the most important because Crawford's stroke was a key milestone which decreased his success in the Presidential election of 1824 by opening up the ticker to Henry Clay who further split the ticket.

Releaser and kadukhudhāh. Figure is nocturnal and Moon is preferred but disallowed for 12th house placement. Sun/Pisces is allowable in the 4th by whole sign houses but disallowed in the 3rd by quadrant houses because the Sun is opposite the house of his joy. This is a mixed indication. If we proceed to the LOF as the releaser for a preventional horoscope, then bound lord Jupiter is the releaser; Jupiter in his own bound and aspecting the LOF by sextile. Jupiter grants 79 major years; Saturn deducts 30 minor years by opposition, Mars deducts 15 minor years by conjunction; Venus adds 8 minor years by sextile aspect. Net projection is 42yrs which is too short. Should Mercury add 20 minor years by conjunction the net projection is the correct 62yrs; however, I rarely have seen cases where Mercury adds or subtracts years. Perhaps in Crawford's case Mercury needs to be included because it is part of an Aquarius stellium which needs to be considered jointly.

Victor of the Chart: Jupiter/Aquarius

Based on Porphyry's Stage I criteria, both Mercury and Jupiter vie for the victor. Jupiter is oriental, rises within 7 days, and is in his own bound. By Firdaria Jupiter is the better Firdaria match though Mercury times certain key events such as preparation of the Georgia law digest at the start of his career. Though Mercury and Jupiter both beseege Mars, Mars is still the enemy, 12th house lord, and causes significant disruptions to Crawford's political career.

Manners: Saturn-Mars (sign-based); Jupiter-Venus (bound-based).
