

Medieval Astrology Profile for Louis Lingg

V.1. 30-Jan-2009. 3:40 AM, ASC 26LE28'31"

Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of Louis Lingg, using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models were developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan).

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir ibn Ezra, a philosopher and astrologer active in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra, which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels (assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms) was taken up by Ptolemy, who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul." Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Signicators of the Soul" or "Manners." A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

Louis Lingg

Louis Lingg (September 9, 1864 - November 10, 1887)

Louis Lingg was born on September 9, 1864 in Mannheim, in the Grand Duchy of Baden to Friedrich Lingg. His father was injured in the lumber mill where he worked. Louis wrote in his autobiography: "At this time I was thirteen and my sister seven years old, and at this age I received my first impressions of the prevailing unjust social institutions, i.e., the exploitation of men by men."

Lingg became an apprentice carpenter from 1869 to 1882. He then took a job in Strasbourg, in Alsace, then moved on to Freiburg, Germany where he joined the Working Men's Educational Society, a socialist organization.

To avoid military service, Lingg moved to Switzerland, but in the spring of 1885, the police in Zurich ordered him to leave the country. He then received a letter from his mother telling him that her new husband was willing to provide him with enough money to move to the United States.

In July 1885, Lingg arrived in New York City then departed for Chicago, Illinois where he joined the International Carpenters and Joiners' Union. He arrived in Chicago seven months before the actions.

On May 4, 1886, Lingg was not present at Haymarket Square for what would be known as the Haymarket Riot. A bomb was thrown into the crowd of policemen by an unidentified person, but prosecutors presented evidence he was involved in the making the bomb. Seven men were arrested the next day in connection with the bombing which killed Officer Mathias Degan and other policemen. Lingg himself was discovered in his hiding place on May 14, 1886, when he pulled a revolver and fought with two police officers before being arrested. Lingg and eight other anarchists were charged on June 21, 1886, with criminal conspiracy. Lingg and six others were convicted and sentenced to death.

In Lingg's apartment, police found two spherical bombs and four pipe bombs. Witnesses interviewed by police placed Lingg in the basement of Greif's Hall the night before the bombing, along with other accused members of the conspiracy including Rudolph Schnaubelt, the lead suspect as the bomb thrower who would have stood trial with the other accused had he not fled Chicago. Lingg was placed on trial with seven anarchist associates, who were tried as a group.

Defense attorney Moses Salomon said in his opening statement to the jury: "It may seem strange why he (Lingg) was manufacturing bombs. The answer to that is, he had a right to have his house full of dynamite." Salomon argued that the accused plans did not target "the life of any single individual at any time or place," and did not conspire to murder Officer Mathias Degan or any number of policemen, "except in self-defense."

Salomon also conceded a pivotal point in explaining that his clients did conspire together to use force, their intentions being "...that when a general revolution or a general strike was inaugurated, when they were attacked, that then, in fact, while carrying out the purposes of that strike or revolution, that then they should use dynamite, and not until then." Ineptly, defense attorneys did not plead for manslaughter, though as an anarchist who did not recognize the court's authority, the defense's approach was probably of little concern to Lingg.

Gustave Lehman, a fellow anarchist carpenter, testified that Lingg was a member of a militant "armed wing" of his carpenters union. Lehman was stationed outside Greif's Hall as a lookout and recalled walking home with Lingg, William Seliger and two other men. When they asked what was going on, Lingg said, "You are all oxen — fools." Chemists testified that the bombs found in Lingg's apartment shared a unique chemical mixture to shrapnel from the Haymarket bomb.

Seliger, a revolutionary carpenter who subletted a room to Lingg, provided the most damning testimony against him. Seliger had been charged with the murder of officer Degan and with conspiracy, riot, and unlawful assembly. The charges were dropped when Seliger turned states evidence. He told the jury he rose early the morning of the bombing and asked Lingg to remove the bombs from the building. Lingg persuaded Seliger that helping him assemble bombs would allow him to remove them that day. Seliger said at least two other men, Ernst Hubner and Herman Mutzenberg, helped rush the bombs to readiness. The two did not appear in court but made statements to police corroborating Seliger's story. None of them were sure how many bombs they made with Lingg that day, their estimates ranging from 26 to 50.

Lingg allegedly told Seliger he was working too slowly, as they needed the bombs by the afternoon. Seliger quoted Lingg as saying they would be used that evening against "the police when they came to protect the capitalists." He said Lingg anticipated a "disturbance" on the West Side and that he had spotted the word "Ruhe" (quietude) in the anarchist newspaper Arbeiter-Zeitung, the signal for armed groups to assemble.

Seliger testified he helped transport bombs to Neff's Saloon, an anarchist hub, where men helped themselves to the bombs. He then returned to Neff's with Lingg after the bombing. There, a man who came from the Haymarket yelled at Lingg, "You are the fault of all of it," an incident corroborated by the testimony of Moritz Neff, the anarchist bartender.

Under cross-examination Seliger stated that he had been paid by the police on two occasions. He also stated that his wife had also been paid by the police but that he did not know how many times or how much money she received, but on further questioning said "I think twenty or twenty-five dollars." After the trial Seliger and his family were sent to Germany at police expense.

Speaking before the court at his sentencing, Lingg denounced Seliger as a "bought squealer," adding the prosecution had failed to prove that the bombs he made were taken to the Haymarket. He also challenged the link of his bombs to the Haymarket bomb. "A couple of chemists also, have been brought here as specialists, yet they could only state that the metal of which the Haymarket bomb was made bore a certain resemblance to those bombs of mine," saying the prosecution attorney admitted there was a difference of a half inch in the bomb diameters. "I die happy on the gallows, so confident am I that the hundreds and thousands to whom I have spoken will remember my words. When you shall have hanged us, then they will do the bombthrowing! In this hope do I say to you, I despise you, I despise your order, your laws, your force propped authority. Hang me for it."

On November 6, 1887, four bombs were discovered in Lingg's cell. Lingg committed suicide on November 10, 1887, the day before he was scheduled to hang. He used a blasting cap smuggled to him by a fellow prisoner. He put it in his mouth and lit it at 9:00 AM. It blew off his lower jaw and damaged a large portion of his face. He survived for another 6 hours—writing "Hoch die anarchie!" (Hurrah for anarchy!) on the cell stones in his own blood before guards came—until his death at around 3:00 PM.

Lingg was buried, in a plot marked since 1893 by the Haymarket Martyrs Monument, in the Waldheim Cemetery (now Forest Home Cemetery) in Forest Park, Illinois. On June 26, 1893 Illinois governor, John Altgeld, pardoned all eight men who had been convicted of the Haymarket Riot, stating that they were innocent of the crime they had died for.

Rectification

Available Birth Data

There is no Astrodatbank record. The following rectification is based on a limited number of events and is highly speculative.

Proposed Rectification

Stage I. Determine the Ascendant sign

Firdaria

With the sign Taurus the sign associated with capitalism, Jupiter in the opposing sign of Scorpio signifies an anti-capitalism philosophy. As a Firdaria ruler in the nocturnal series, Jupiter/Scorpio timed (1) Lingg's anti-capitalism radicalism following the shabby treatment given his father following a workplace injury and (2) Lingg's father willingness to fund his emigration to the United States where he became active as a labor union organizer. Conclusion: Favor the nocturnal series.

Moon's Configuration

Time	Moon's Degree	Sect	Configuration
12:00 AM	13SA15	N	Moon separates from Mercury and applies to the Sun
5:32 AM	16SA17	D	Moon separates from Mercury and applies to the Sun
6:23 AM	16SA45	D	Moon separates from the Sun and applies to Saturn
6:40 AM	16SA54	D	Moon separates from Saturn and is VOC
6:20 PM	23SA23	N	Moon separates from Saturn and is VOC
12:00 AM	26SA33	N	Moon separates from Saturn and is VOC

Advocacy for labor unions is a delineation match to Mercury/Libra's function as a negotiator. He was successful in organizing unions in Chicago. This is fit to the Moon's separation from Mercury and application to the Sun and favors a birth time from 12:00 AM to 6:23 AM. If Firdaria is correct (favoring nocturnal hours), the birth time range can be refined to 12:00 AM - 5:32 AM.

Physiognomy

For a birth time range between 12:00 AM and 5:32 AM the Ascendant degree range is 15CA – 16VI. Lingg's face has the distinctive rectangular shape associated with fixed signs. This could either be the fixed sign of Leo rising or a rising decan whose ruler is in a fixed sign. For the latter, the third decan of Cancer (Pisces) is possible as well as the second decan of Leo (Sagittarius) both ruled by Jupiter/Scorpio. The proposed rectification selects Leo as the rising sign.

Stage II. Determine the Ascendant's range within 1-4 degrees

Stage III. Determine the exact Degree and Minute of the Ascendant

Given the lack of a complete biographical treatment of Lingg, the following measurements are realistic but by no means definitive. As such what follows is very speculative.

Ascendant sign ruler: Sun/Virgo

Ascendant decan: Sagittarius

Ascendant decan ruler: Jupiter/Scorpio

Planets/Nodes placed in the Ascendant sign or decan: Moon in Ascendant decan.

Longevity: 23y 2m 1d

Releaser and kadukhudhāh. Figure is nocturnal and Moon/Sagittarius/5th qualifies as the releaser. Empirically, directions of Jupiter (8th house lord) to the Moon time death which confirms choice of the Moon as releaser. Death is also timed by transit of Mars within a degree of the Sun. If the Moon is releaser, the bound lord Venus is the kadukhudhah. Venus is in her own sign, has just made her evening heliacal appearance (oriental), and is the in-sect benefic. Venus grants 82 major years. Saturn receives by exaltation and bound and deducts 30 minor years for a net projection of 52 years. Mars aspects Venus by trine but without reception cannot deduct years. Lingg lived less than half his longevity projection.

Victor of the Chart: Venus/Libra

Porphyrus's Stage I criteria overwhelmingly favors Venus/Libra with Mercury and Jupiter secondary contenders. I find it interesting that Lingg discovered socialism in a Saturn-Venus Firdaria period. A similar horoscope belongs to Bernie Sanders (Regulus LLC rectification) with Leo rising and Venus/Libra in the 3rd; Sanders is also a socialist.

By profession as a carpenter and labor organizer, Mercury/Libra cannot be ruled out. Lingg's radicalism is signified by Mercury, which after it makes its retrograde station 2 days after Lingg's birth, Mercury applies to Mars by trine which is the first aspect Mercury makes.

Manners: Sign-based (Jupiter-Venus); Bound-based (Venus-Mercury)
